

Dual Display Compatibility with Studio

- Pinnacle Legacy

Studio products are low cost entry level, non-linear editing systems. They are primarily intended for home and small business use. The vast majority of home and small business PC's do not use dual display graphics cards. Currently, there is not sufficient demand for this type of a system to justify the engineering effort required to develop one.