

Can I buy and activate a large number of accounts automatically?

- AfterShot

No, although bulk orders are on our roadmap, we don't have a system for bulk orders available at the moment, so every license/account needs to go through checkout individually and each one has to be bound to an email. Furthermore, each Corel Vector account needs to be created individually.
