

"Line spacing" is different when used as CSS line-height property

- AfterShot

Corel Vector's text engine is rendering line spacing in a different way than browsers. If you want to translate line spacing (Corel Vector) to line-height (CSS property) consider sticking to pixel units instead of percentages
