

License requirements to distribute self-extracting Zip files

- WinZip
- WinZip Self-Extractor
- WinZip Enterprise

If you are using a registered copy of WinZip Self-Extractor, you do not need any additional license to distribute the self-extracting Zip files you create. The license requirements for the software in the self-extracting Zip files you create, though, is your responsibility.

In regard to usage, the WinZip Self-Extractor Registered License states:

If you have purchased a single-user license you have the right to install and use a single copy of WinZip Self-Extractor on one computer or workstation. If you have purchased a multi-user license and received a valid registration file or code, you or your organization have the right to install a copy of WinZip Self-Extractor on multiple computers up to the number of "Licensed Copies" that you have acquired, as indicated in the documents issued by WinZip Computing when granting the License.

Here is the section of the license that specifically addresses the distribution of the self-extracting Zip files you create:

WinZip Self-Extractor may be used to create an unlimited number of freely distributable, royalty-free self-extracting Zip files. Each self-extracting Zip file contains, among other things, a portion of WinZip Self-Extractor, including copyrighted software, proprietary notices, and identifying information (this portion is the "Extraction Software"). You may not alter or modify the Extraction Software, nor give anyone permission to do so.
