

Does Studio support capture and editing to and from network hard drives?

- Pinnacle Legacy

Studio does not support capture and editing using network hard drives; all video and media files associated with a project must be stored on a local drive on the computer being used for editing.