

Will my Pinnacle Hardware work with another brand of software

- Pinnacle Legacy

We do not test or support our hardware on any other brand of software. You can attempt to use our hardware with other software but, we do not think it will work and cannot help you make it work.

Our capture hardware does capture standard file types like Mpeg or AVI. These files can be opened in most other video editors so you can use our software to capture and then import the video files into the other programs.
